Sponsorship of Student Work Submitted to The Vault

The Vault collection welcomes outstanding works by current JIBC students and/or work prepared while they were students at JIBC. These works will be made publicly and permanently available online through The Vault.

In order to maintain a high standard of quality, students must obtain the sponsorship of a faculty member, academic unit, or officer of a duly-formed student research group prior to submitting their work(s) to The Vault.

Although students are responsible for the validity and authenticity of their work, the sponsor is responsible for verifying the quality of the submission(s). The individual or unit that supervised the work is in the best position to evaluate its quality.

Please note that the Vault administrators and staff do not evaluate the quality of submissions. They review submissions only for:

- eligibility of authors/depositors
- relevance to the scope of the repository
- valid layout and format
- exclusion of spam

I attest that the following outstanding work is worthy of long-term preservation in The Vault, and that:

- The content is scholarly, educational, or research-oriented, or of cultural or historical value to the Justice Institute of British Columbia community.
- The work is written or created in accordance with the tradition appropriate to the discipline, including review and editorial intervention.

Sponsor’s name: ___________________________ Signature: ___________________________
(please print legibly) Last name First name

Sponsor’s email address: ___________________________

Department or Research Group: ___________________________

Student’s name: ___________________________
Last name First name (please print legibly)

Title of student’s work: ___________________________

Course number (or event for which the work was created): ___________________________

Semester the work was completed: ___________________________

If this work involves human participants, has an ethics review been completed? Yes □ No □ N/A □

Please ensure that the submission does not contain any private or personal student information such as student ID numbers, course marks/grades, or contact information.

This letter will be kept on file, but will not be publicly displayed in The Vault.